GLOBAL CHANGE AND MEDITERRANEAN PINES: ALTERNATIVES FOR MANAGEMENT

IUFRO

EXTENDED DEADLINE FOR ABSTRACTS

DIVISION 1: Unit 1.01.10 - Ecology and silviculture 13 September 2009

DIVISION 2: Unit 2.02.13 - Breeding and genetic resources of Mediterranean conifers

DIVISION 4: Unit 4.01.00 - Forest mensuration and modelling

Joint International Meeting

10–12 February, 2010

University of Valladolid at Palencia, Spain

With the scientific support of:

Instituto Universitario de Gestión Forestal Sostenible UVA-INIA

With the technical collaboration of:

FAO Silva Mediterranea

EFI Mediterranean Regional Office – EFIMED

SECOND ANNOUNCEMENT AND CALL FOR PAPERS

Background and theme

Meeting Key Challenges:

- a. A better understanding of the mechanisms underlying the physiological and ecological responses of different Mediterranean pine species (in terms of nutrient uptake, growth, biotic stress factors, etc.) to climate change and water availability is needed to define new adaptive management regimes for reducing water use and ensuring the long-term soil preservation.
- b. Understanding the ecological and genetic adaptive capacity of pine species in response to environmental changes and various forest management scenarios.
- c. Anticipating the effects of interactions between different components of future environmental changes.

The Meeting, and therefore the contributions, is expected to add to the following main research fields:

- Forestry strategies to cope with global change
- Ecological and Genetic adaptations to climate change
- Interaction between genetics, ecology and silviculture of Mediterranean pines under global change conditions

Scientific programme

- Global framework
- Interaction between genetics, ecology and silviculture of Mediterranean pines under global change conditions
- Policy and management implications
- Case studies

Conference webpage

Information on the Meeting, as well as registration and chance for entering abstracts in the Meeting's peer-review scheme can be found at www.iufro2010.es.

Every researcher, professional or student interested in the Meeting's programme would register his/her likely participation, since a number of sections in the webpage are not accessible to unregistered users.

Call for abstracts

Since a number of authors has asked the Scientific Committee to extend the abstract-submission, an extended deadline has been agreed by 13 September 2009. Therefore, authors willing to submit a paper or poster must register an abstract written in English, of no more than 300 words, before 13 September 2009. The abstracts will be peer-reviewed by the Scientific Committee of the Meeting.

Abstracts must be submitted through the communications module of www.iufro2010.es. The communications module is only visible for logged-in participants. Please register (new users to cuatroelementos.org) or log in (registered users).

- Main body of abstract should be 300 words or less
- Information on a given abstract must include:
 - Title
 - Authors and affiliations
 - Body of abstract
 - Contact information for corresponding author, including mailing address, phone, and email.
 - Type of submission (paper or poster)
 - Suggestion for most applicable theme
 - Name of presenter

Manuscript formatting

Edited proceedings will be distributed at the Meeting, and will include accepted papers and posters. A publication of selected papers is further programmed. A template for complete communications is available at www.iufro2010.es.
