IUFRO Honours and Awards

CONFLICT OF INTEREST POLICY OF THE HONORS AND AWARDS COMMITTEE

In evaluating candidates for this award call, evaluators must not be subject to conflict of interests (COI), as this would compromise IUFRO's reputation and the significance of the awards.

A COI is where the impartial and objective exercise of the evaluator's functions is compromised for reasons involving family, emotional life, political or national affinity, economic interest, scientific affinity or competition, or any other shared interest.

Examples are:

- close personal relationships e.g., family ties
- close scientific collaboration in the past five years (e.g., as a superior or subordinate, or as a co-author of a published article)
- from the same institution, department, institute, or laboratory
- application in the same award call
